STORES CLOSE THURSDAY AFTERNOONS. DO YOUR SHOPPING EARLY.

Commencing Thursday of this week the grocery stores and meat markets of the city will close Thursdays at noon during June, July and August.

This practice has prevailed for several years, and is done to give the employes a little time for recreation and enjoyment. Considering the hours put in by these people in order to serve you it is your duty to regulate your shopping so as to cooperate with them and assist them in this worthy custom.

Just a little thought on your part will assist them greatly, and your efforts will surely be appreciated by them.

GUYOL RECITAL GALA AFFAIR

Miss Margaret Prindiville Makes Her Debut

The recital in expression and dancing given by the pupils of Helen Emmart Guyol at Hamilton Park last Thursday and Friday evenings was a tremendous success.

Every one of the 26 pupils did themselves credit. They averaged in age from 4 to 16 years and their performance was more like that of professionals than amatems.

The program, rather a lengthy one, kept the audience intensely interested throughout the evening. And what a jolly audience it was! It would remind one of a family gathering. Everyone seemed to know everyone else. Occasionally there were shrieks of delight as some of the little tots "pulled off" the unexpected.

The dancing numbers were varied and were gracefully and artistically performed. The children, barelegged, dimple kneed and beautifully costumed, made a striking appearance as they pranced across the stage.

Little Miss Prindiville of 7919 Green St., who is well known in Auburn Park and loved by everyone, is a second Marillyn Miller. Appearing as the "Vanity Doll," this little maid of six summers, golden haired, blue eyed, with shapely neck, limbs and dimpled knees, clad in a gorgeous costume of blue net and lace, took the house by storm. A wonderful dancer is this little tot, very nimble on her feet and her every move a graceful one. The costumes she wore were dazzling and would make the famous Gaby Deslys turn green with envy.

Other performers worthy of note were Lucille Pierce, Charlotte Schuberth, Agnes Hanson, Bertha Ritscholt, Donald Jacobson and many others too numerous to mention, all of whom helped make the performance an excellent one.

The performance if presented in the loop would cause a sensation. The instructress, Miss Guyol, can well be proud of her pupils and it is with deep regret we learn that she leaves for Denver very shortly, this being her farewell recital. Here's wishing her the best of success in her new undertakings. She will be greatly missed by her countless admirers.

"HE'S GOT MONEY!" Can this be said of YOU? Yes, it can, and it will mean admiration and respect. You ask how? Easy! buy War Savings Stamps. You've heard this before? Yes, but have you really thought it out. Remember, even the possession of a SINGLE $5 War Savings Stamp confers upon you the title of "Government Bond Holder." And remember also, the strange gathering power of money. Get STARTED, that's all, and then see and feel it gather. With one War Savings Stamp ahead you are almost certain to acquire another, and that speedily. And then, the saving, the gathering, keeps on, almost of its own accord, until some day the amount gives you a gentle, pleasing, egotistical little shock, and you exclaim in genuine surprise, "How did I do it?"

Enough said. Now this week is "Thrift Week," a week set aside just for YOU to begin. Call your letter-carrier when he comes to your door TO-DAY, and get started.

This article (it's a short one but it's full of hooks) is written for YOU It's not just mere type; it's BUSINESS. The U. S. government intends to make a permanent P. O. feature of W. S. S. This is official. It has authorized a $2,000 000 issue of 1919 War Savings Stamps

There is but one way to be thrifty; that is to save regularly and spend wisely. War Savings Stamps are purposely designed to make this REGULAR saving easy. It is an opportunity such as never before has been presented to any people.

The tests of any security are "Is it safe?", "Does it pay good interest?", "Can it be easily sold and without loss?" War Savings Stamps are all this. They are a first mortgage on the entire United States; they pay 4 per cent compound interest; they are always redeemable without loss, a 10-day notice to the Postoffice being only necessary when cashing them. Also they will be cashed without reluctance.

Stop your letter-carrier today and begin to SAVE. You will thank the writer later for this very personal advice.

P. S.—It is expected that the old W. S. S. war booth will again be erected this week at the community center, 79th and Halsted Sts.

Tolling a Big Bell.

At the Church of the Sacred Heart, in Paris, a 22-ton bell is tolled by electricity. A choir boy now does the work which formerly required the services of five men.

Wasted Patience.

He was a green Scottish lad, and one of his duties was to answer the telephone. When first called on to do so, in reply to the usual query: "Are you there?" he nodded assent. Again the question came and again and yet again, and each time the boy gave the answering nod. When the question came for the fifth time, however, the boy, losing his temper, roared through the transmitter: "Man, are ye blin'? I've been noddin' ma heid aff for the last half oor!"—Boston Transcript.

Power for Good and Evil.

Into the hands of every individual is given a marvelous power for good or for evil—the silent, unconscious, unseen influence of his life. This is simply the constant radiation of what a man really is, not what he pretends to be. Life is a state of constant radiation and absorption; to exist is to radiate; to exist is to be the recipient of radiations.

Afghan Music.

The Afghans have a penchant for musical instruments, and the wealthier classes import some costly makes, though occasionally their manner of using them is somewhat startling. An Afghan nobleman sent for a grand piano, and had all the lower part cut off, as he found it most convenient to play it squatting on the floor.

Something Else to Do.

You will see the pools and the standing water frozen through the winter, when the little running streams are bounding along between fringes of icy gems. Why is this? The streams have something else to do than stand still to be frozen up. Be you like them.—John Hall.

To Prevent Rugs Slipping.

There are many devices to prevent rugs from slipping on highly-polished floors. One of the best and also the cheapest is to cut pieces of rough sheathing paper the exact size of the rugs and lay it under them. They will not move them. Another way is to sew triangles of corrugated rubber sheeting to the corners of the rugs.

What Is In Your Heart?

It is not always necessary to make a conscious effort to help others. If we are trying our hardest to do right, helpfulness will radiate from our lives, as heat radiates from a fire. If there is kindness and sympathy in our hearts our very silence will be eloquent. The greater part of helpfulness is the conscious sort which is the direct result of our being what we are.

Not Half.

The ticker doesn't always tell everything that happens in Wall street.

Rugby Football.

At the famous school of Rugby, England, originated that form of football, now bearing the name of the school. An inscription, at Rugby reads: "This stone commemorates the exploit of William Webb Ellis, who, with a fine disregard for the rules of football, as played in his time, first took the ball in his arms and ran with it, thus originating the distinctive feature of the rugby game. A. D. 1823."

Step Higher Up.

If all our actions and motives in daily life could be actuated by a subconscious and all-pervading idea of fitting ourselves as we go along step by step for figurative letters of recommendation as to our ability to capably hold the next trench ahead, how surely would our foes of slackness, dilatoriness and incompetence be routed.

A Nap on a 40-Mile Wind.

It was not so long ago that a ten-mile breeze would upset all flying plans for a day at any airdrome or exhibition field. Now nothing short of a hurricane can keep the machines on the ground. As far as the ability to make good weather of it is concerned the airman of today can laugh at a gale and fairly take a nap sitting on a 40-mile wind.—William A. Bishop, V. C., S. O., M. C., in Saturday Evening Post.

Washington's Hair in Ring.

A signet ring containing locks of hair of George Washington has been added to the collection of relics of Alexandria Washington lodge of Masons, No. 22, in Alexandria, Va. The ring, which was the property of Mrs. Martha Peter, granddaughter of Martha Washington, contains several locks of Washington's hair—of reddish brown mixed with gray. It is inscribed "A. Hamilton, 1798." Abigail Hamilton was the grandmother of the donor.

X-Rays in Tuberculosis.

In the finished positive photographic print, the lungs of a normal person show white—this representing the air contained in the cells of the lungs. If the lung is diseased—as in pneumonia—it will show dark, i. e., the cells being occluded with matter. Tuberculosis is diagnosed by the spotted, mottled appearance of the affected lungs.

Unnecessary Risk.

"Brother Philander," said I to our head deacon the other day, "don't you believe a man can get to heaven without even dropping a cent into the contribution box?" "I suppose so," answered old Philander, "and when you are sick with typhoid fever or any other disease you can doctor yourself. You are taking the chances."—Osborne Farmer.

Health and Wealth.

The dollar mark is a sign of wealth, but not health. Health without wealth is better than wealth without health. It is possible for a man to have both.

Presidents in Country's History.

Martin Van Buren, the eighth president, was the first president born after we had declared our independence of England, and John Tyler was the first born after the formation of the United States.

New Waterproofing Oil.

A French oil for waterproofing leather, cloth, paper and other materials is a mixture of eight parts of amyl acetate and four of castor oil, with one part of sulphur chloride stirred into it. Though this form a jelly, giving off hydrochloric acid, it liquefies after being kept tightly covered a few days, and, the acid being then neutralized with barium carbonate, gives a colorless solution on filtering. To make a varnish, nitrocellulose is dissolved in the liquid after the addition of alcohol or benzine.

Grandmother in Eighteen Days.

A lady green bug becomes a grandmother in 18 days. One can imagine, then, notes a naturalist, the multitudinous armies of these insects that may develop in the course of a season. Their worst foe is a tiny black four-winged fly that deposits an egg in each bug it comes across, its larva consuming the bug's inside works and using its shell for a house

Somewhat Mercenary.

Bob was to have a birthday party. His best friend, Dick, met him in town the day before. "Say, kid," he asked, "what do you want me to bring you?" Bob, who was saving for a bicycle, replied: "If it's all the same to you, Dick, I'd rather you'd give me the money." The following day as Bob's mother received the little guests, Dick presented 25 cents, saying: "Mrs. G., Bob said he'd rather have the money."

ANTIQUITY OF DECORATIVE ART

Strange Sources From Which Pigments Used by Modern Painters Are Derived.

PRESERVATION OF SURFACES.

Crude but Effective Processes Employed by the Egyptians and Greeks of Pliny's Day—Noah Prudently Waterproofed the Ark.

Whether paint was invented in answer to a need for a preservative or to meet a desire for beauty is a question fully as knotty as the ancient one about the relative time of arrival of the chicken or the egg. It was invented, though, and it serves both purposes equally; so whether it is an offspring of mother necessity or an adopted son of beauty remains forever a disputed question.

The first men, cowering under the fierce and glaring suns of the biblical countries, constructed rude huts of wood to shelter them. The perishable nature of these structures caused rapid decay, and it is probable that the occupants, seeking some artificial means of preservation, hit upon the pigments of the earth in their search. It is perhaps natural to suppose that it was the instinct of preservation that led men to the search, although the glories of the sunsets and the beauties of the rainbow may have created a desire to imitate those wonders in their own dwellings.

The earliest record of the application of a preservative to a wooden structure dates from the ark, which was, according to the Bible, "pitched within and without." The pitch was a triumph of preservation whatever it lacked as a thing of beauty.

Decoration applied to buildings first comes to light with ancient Babylon, whose walls were covered with representations of hunting scenes and of combat. These were done in red and the method followed was to paint the scene on the bricks at the time of manufacture, assuring permanence by baking. Strictly speaking, this was not painting so much as it was the earliest manifestation of our own familiar kalsomining.

The first Hebrew to mention painting is Moses In the thirty-third chapter of the book of Numbers he instructs the Israelites, "When ye have passed over the Jordan into the land of Canaan, then shall ye drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you and destroy all their pictures. . . ."

At later periods the Jews adopted many customs of the peoples who successively obtained power over them and in the apocryphal book of the Maccabees is found this allusion to the art of decorating, "For as the master builder of a new house must care for the whole building, but he that undertaketh to set it out and paint it, must seek out things for the adorning thereof."

Although Homer gives credit to a Greek for the discovery of paint, the allusions to it in the books of Moses, the painted mummy cases of the Egyptians and the decorated walls of Babylon and Thebes fix its origin at a period long antecedent to the Grecian era. The walls of Thebes were painted 1,000 years before the coming of Christ and 996 years before "'Omer smote his bloomin' lyre."

The Greeks recognized the value of paint as a preservative and made use of something akin to it on their ships. Pliny writes of the mode of boiling wax and painting ships with it, after which, he continues, "neither the sea, nor the wind, nor the sun can destroy the wood thus protected."

The Romans, being essentially a warlike people, never brought the decoration of buildings in the high plane it had reached with the Greeks. For all that the ruins of Pompeii show many structures whose mural decorations are in fair shape today. The colors used were glaring. A black background was the usual one and the combinations worked thereon red, yellow and blue.

In the early Christian era the use of mosaics for churches somewhat supplanted mural painting. Still, during the reign of Justinian the Church of Saint Sophia was built at Constantinople and its walls were adorned with paintings.

In modern times the uses of paint have come to be as numerous as its myriad shades and tints. Paint is unique in that its name has no synonym and for it there is no substitute material. Bread is the staff of life, but paint is the life of the staff.

No one thinks of the exterior of a wooden building now except in terms of paint coated. Interiors, too, from painted walls and stained furniture down to the lowliest kitchen utensil, all receive their protective covering. Steel, so often associated with cement reinforcing, is painted before it goes to give solidity to the manufactured stone. The huge girders of the skyscrapers are daubed an ugly but efficient red underneath the surface coat of black. Perhaps the best example of the value of paint on steel is found in the venerable Brooklyn bridge, on which a gang of painters is kept going continually. It is scarce possible to think of a single manufactured article which does not meet paint somewhere in the course of its construction. So has paint grown into the very marrow of our lives.

Occasionally.

Occasionally a truthful man goes fishing.—Chicago Daily News.

Told in a Few Words.

A Brunswick soldier, who was taken prisoner by Americans in the war, said: "Ah! America is a fine free country; it is worth people fighting for; I know the difference by knowing my own; in my country, if prince say, 'Eat straw,' we eat straw."—Thomas Paine.

Swiftest Dog.

The swiftest dog in the world, the borzoi, or Russian wolfhound, has made record runs that show 75 feet in a second, which would give it a speed of 4,800 feet in a minute if the pace could be kept up.

Origin of "Torpedo."

The word torpedo is said by the authorities to owe its designation to the Latin verb "torpere," to be stiff, owing to its inauspicious appearance; probably also from its resemblance to the species of fish known by the same name.

A Fighting Kansan.

An Atchison man has figured in so many church rows his wife has put a service flag in the window.—Ithaca Globe.

The Name Rose.

The name "rose" varies only slightly among different nations. The Romans called it rosa—a form adhered to in Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and Russian. In Polish it is roza; in Dutch, roos; in Swedish, ros, and in French, German and Danish, rose.

Mixed.

A certain professor was struggling to make clear the point that both parents have an equal influence upon a child. "For," he said gravely, "a man is as much the son of his father as he is the daughter of his mother!"

St. Helena the Good.

St. Helena according to a colonial report, appears to have no real criminals. Stone-throwing by night was for a short period the most serious offense. Last year no person was committed for trial; 104 out of 240 summary cases came under the education, road tax, and poor law ordinances and 77 trivial cases were dealt with by the police without bringing them to court. Three instances of flogging are recorded, under the juvenile smoking ordinance.

Preserving Frescoes.

A novel method of preserving frescoes, recently discovered by a Japanese, consists in coating them with thin glass, which is made to adhere through the agency of specially prepared chemicals. The new method is said to make the frescoes proof against the injurious action of the atmosphere.

Honey in Africa.

Quantities of honey are found in the African forests by the natives in hollow trees. The honey is generally at the summit of the tree, and the men knock down the tree and smoke the bees out of their lodging with burning grass. The honey is then quickly collected and taken to camp.

Reason in Their Fall.

Institutions may crumble and governments fall, but it is only that they may renew a better youth.—George Bancroft.

Novel House-Boat.

A desirable residence, which commands an excellent sea-view, is a fishing boat which has been converted into a dwelling house, and is now the home of a family living somewhere on the north coast of England. The situation of the dwelling suggests good facilities for indulgence in sea-bathing during the summer months.

The Fandango.

The dance bearing this name is of Spanish origin. It is in three-eighth time and is invariably accompanied with castanets and sometimes also with a tambourine. Its musical character is the strong accent on the second beat of each bar instead of the first.

Health in Outdoor Sports.

The great increase in the number of inmates at asylums for the insane is to be taken as a sign of the worry and uncertainty of our times. The resumption of outdoor play as soon as possible will restore equilibrium. Did an old base ball player ever become insane?

Another Shakespearean Question.

The fact that Shakespeare made one of his characters in "Twelfth Night" say: "But I am a great eater of beef, and I believe that it does hurm to my will," has caused the claim to be set up that Shakespeare was a fishmonger on the side.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Deep Stuff.

London Answers tells the story of a musical student who, one night at Queen's Hall, slithered up to a couple of long-haired professors in the hope of hearing some learned conversation "Ten cents each," one of the professors was observing, "and not even new-laid!"

Quick Work.

Overheard at a county fair: (Intoxicated Man gazing in open-mouthed astonishment at an incubator just placed in floral hall and in which the chicks are beginning to hatch)—"These here incubators just beat anything I ever saw. I give you my word them eggs haven't been in here an hour and they are hatching already."

Try to Be Agreeable.

We should wisely cultivate the art of being agreeable, not only in the company of our business associates or those persons whom we meet socially but in our own homes as well. By thus deporting ourselves we shall find life more pleasant and people in general—the home folks in particular—more considerate. On the other hand, if we continue to think only of ourselves we shall find life a trying affair.—Exchange.

Optimistic Thought.

Most powerful is he who has himself in power.

Bee Farming Has Future.

It is a fascinating business, that of bee farming, and a business which notwithstanding the fact that it dates back to prehistoric times, is even yet an infant industry. Which is to say, it is not one-fourth developed to the potential limit. There is an immense amount of honey wasted every year because there are not enough bees to gather it.

The Social Fabric.

To uphold the social system women submit to uncounted tests of their constancy. They endure physical discomfort, ennui, the peril of cold drafts and damp places, hours of weariness and moments of acute annoyance for the sake of what, to a man, is an unimportant social matter. And even though at times she feels that it would matter little if the whole social scheme of things should perish—and that instantly with fire and bloodshed if need be—rather than require so much of her, she stands to her colors.

A Message to Women

The times have brought new and trying housekeeping problems to you—problems that have become intensified by the difficulty of securing competent domestic help.

It has accordingly devolved upon you, as upon other modern women, to be mistress of many things. While acting as mother and business manager in the home, you must also give ear nowadays to appeals of the community for welfare work and social service.

You have larger responsibilities and more to do, with less time in which to do it—a condition which prompts us to invite your attention again to the family service our laundry offers.

We can assume for you the burden of the family washing.

We are well qualified to take over this duty. Our laundering methods have become perfected to a degree that even the most competent of laundresses cannot excel. Practices like boiling and bleaching, for example, have been replaced by us with the improved method of sousing and rinsing in water of velvety softness and suds of pure white soap.

If you seek leisure for more devotion to the interests of your children, or time for many of the other bigger things in life, could anything be simpler than to pack your washday troubles in a laundry bag and send them to us?

Or could anything be more satisfying than to have your washing come back to you at a definite time each week.

Ours is a modern laundry that can give you such service—a laundry in which you will find men and women who are courteous, accommodating and desirous of extending you that washday help for which you have been waiting.

Meet your multiplied housekeeping problems in the modern way—send us your family washing. A telephone call will bring our driver.

EARNING MONEY NOT MAIN ECONOMIC TASK

Illinois War Savings Organization Trying to Make This Clear Through Pushing the Budget Idea.

The earning of money is not the main economic task. To make this clear to the people of the state is one of the aims of the War Savings Organization for Illinois. Through pushing the budget idea it endeavors to point out that wise spending is the greatest test of the individual's ability to manage a business or the affairs of a household.

Even to save does not necessarily mean wise spending. The present day offers so many equivalents for our money that a careful, systematic study must be made of household administration if a proper balance is to be found between the different items in the average household budget.

There are two classes of housekeepers to whom systematic record-keeping and a suggestive budget will appeal. The first of these is the woman with a limited income whose greatest desire is to make both ends meet: the other, the woman with unlimited means who desires to spend her money wisely.

There are items in every household on which too much money is spent. The housekeeper feels that a reduction in one of these would be unjust to the family, and therefore hesitates to place the proper proportion to the credit of this item. The fact must be faced, however, that if too much is spent on an item such as shoes or clothing, less must be spent for other necessities of life.

The item which should be emphasized is the one on saving. Old age, sickness, loss of time and many other demands will be made upon savings during the lifetime of the average individual, and unless proper provision is made in the budget of every family for this most important item suffering and want will result. Poorhouses are full of people who did not have a savings item in their budget. No family, at least until they are definitely beyond the reach of adversity, should be without insurance. An insurance policy has stood between many a fatherless family and want.

Every successful enterprise is conducted on system. If the home is to be a successful institution it must also comply with this rule of wise economies.

Systematic household accounting will make a home more cheerful and prosperous. Household accounting alone, however, will never return its full benefit until it is backed by an intelligent family budget.

How to spend wisely the daily, weekly or monthly wage is learned by most of us through sad experience. The demands for food must be met, even though we spend less for shelter or clothing.

Where the total wage of the family (man, wife and at least two children) is $900, to meet our present conditions the housewife would need to spend, in the city, about one-half for food. This amount could be reduced by skillful buying and by raising vegetables and fruits in the garden.

On the lower salaries it will be impossible even for the thrifty family to save much on the cost of food and still maintain the family in a state of health. On the higher salaries, from $1,800 upwards, it is quite possible for the intelligent spender to buy and prepare food so that more of the family income may be saved either for investments or for other uses in maintaining the family and in supporting community life.

Wherever rent is more than one-sixth of the income, it will pay to buy or build, as the taxes and the insurance on the investments, plus the depreciation, will be less than the amount spent for rent. Never more than 15 per cent of the income should be spent for rent.

Amusement and recreation is essential in family life. The child and the adult should have an allowance for recreation. The total may be very small, averaging from 4 to 5 per cent of the income of the family.

The contribution of the family to church should, if possible, be as large as can be afforded, but with the high cost of living as it is, it is impossible on a low wage to maintain the family in a state of health and pay 10 per cent of the income for church and charity.

The wisest spender plans the needs of the family so that the amount spent in miscellaneous items will be as small as possible. This item should not be "catch all" in home records.

SING A SONG OF SAVINGS STAMPS

Sing a song of Savings stamps,
The cost of living's high,
But have you counted all the things
These Savings stamps will buy?

They help to take that summer trip,
Or buy some fussy clothes.
How many things they'll help to get,
Goodness only knows!

Money Making Money.

One dollar put aside every week for five years will give you over $287; for ten years it will make $638. Of course, $2 a week will give you about double that, or for five years $575.00; and so on. Buy a lead pencil and figure on that. It will be one of the best investments you ever made.—Bolton Hall.

The cook book shows evidence of frequent study of the dandelion wine page.

HOW ILLINOIS SCHOOL CHILDREN EARN AND SAVE

Letters to War Savings Organization Show That Hundreds Capitalize Their Spare Moments.

Many hundreds of Illinois schoolchildren already have learned the lesson of capitalizing their spare moments. They know what vacation earning and savings mean. A symposium prepared by the War Savings Organization for Illinois contains letters from more than 500 grade school pupils telling how they earned money in their spare time to buy Thrift and War Savings stamps. They cover a wide range of activities. Here are some of them:

Boys.

Small jobs about the farm.
Building fire at school.
Prize of $10 for the best pig in pig club.
Chopping weeds from neighbor's corn.
Trapping.
Raising chickens.
Plowing corn and pulling weeds.
Driving hayfork and plowing corn for a neighbor.
Chasing cattle.
Working for teacher—dusting erasers, erasing board, keeping coal bucket and water boiler filled.
Catching mice.
Vacation work on farm.
Selling scrap iron.
Magazine route.
Selling popcorn.
Carrying butter to town.
Catching fur animals and selling them.
Doing janitor work at church.
Shoveling snow, beating rugs and mowing lawns.
Finding hens' nests.
War garden.
Making and selling telephone cards and calendars.
School entertainment.
Delivering milk to cottagers.
Auction sale of cakes and pies in school.
Pumping tires.
Selling old bottles.
Gathering paper and baling it.
Work after school and on Saturdays in neighboring stores.

Girls.

Running errands for relatives.
Calling next-door neighbor to phone.
Washing and wiping dishes.
Herding cows.
Ridding potatoes of bugs.
Raising chickens and ducks.
Helping mother with the dishes.
Hauling hay, plowing corn, driving derrick horse and carrying water.
Crocheting lace for teacher.
Husking corn.
Bringing home and milking cows.
Raising Scotch collie puppies to sell.
Helping in garden.
Delivering electric light bills.
Making button-holes and knitting stockings.
Stamping envelopes for stenographer.
Making beds before going to school.
Carrying milk to customers.
Caring for a flock of ducks.
Selling papers and old rubbers and taking subscriptions for farm papers.
Picking dandelions.
Churning a pound of butter per week.
Minding baby brothers and sisters.
Taking care of three lambs and having them sheared.
Wielding the fly swat.
Raising bantam chickens.

One of the best letters in the symposium was received from Charles Harvey Brown, a fifteen-year-old pupil at the Humphrey school, Divernon, Ill. He wrote:

"The main thing is to make the money honestly, and not 'despise the day of small things.' Pennies will make dollars if they are saved and invested in something safe.

"At the beginning of the War Savings campaign I decided that I would save all I could and buy stamps. My mother was shipping cream. I got up the cows at night, got the feed ready and helped milk. For this I received my share of the cream money, and as butter fat went up as high as 74 cents at one time this amounted to a goodly sum. I hauled water during threshing and harvest time and was paid for it. I helped with the dishes and carried coal for a neighbor, and by January 1, 1919, to my surprise I had $100 worth of War Savings stamps. When I cash these at maturity the money will be added to my savings account."

A STITCH IN TIME.

Automobile races are now in order, but no guarantee is given the crowd that anyone will be killed.
